

Ameerah Holliday is the administrative assistant for two Howard Hughes Medical Institute labs at UC San Diego. She received her Bachelor's degree in English Literature from San Diego State University while doing her best to avoid anything that sounded like science. Since joining the Reck-Peterson lab in 2018, she now finds science a lot less intimidating (although don't ask her to explain anything).

When not in lab, Ameerah is an amateur baker, dancer and self-proclaimed poetess. She currently serves as a Junior Agent for Serendipity Literary Agency, editorial director for the San Diego Poetry Annual and assistant editor for Kids! San Diego Poetry Annual.
